Elmer Labadie of Decatur was arraigned before Justice Strine yesterday morning, charged with having, on the 16th day of August last, stolen 163 pounds of peppermint oil, the property of Albert M. Todd, of the value of $261. The respondent waived examination and, in default of bail, was committed to jail. He will be arraigned before the circuit court next Monday.

One day this week, a teamster in the employ of Free & Hagerman went to Lawton for a load of baled hay for Thomas Bros. He loaded his team too heavily and, when near the grist mill, threw off ten bales, leaving them beside the road, thinking he would get them on the next trip the following morning. Some miscreant stole six bales during the night, and efforts to apprehend the thief have as yet been unsuccessful.

Singular, isn't it, that the boys cannot have some place in town where they can play ball or some other game unmolested and without being requested to move on or to vacate by someone who is more or less annoyed by their, perhaps boisterous, but innocent pleasures? A playground is as much a necessity for boys--and girls too, for that matter, as a school room. By all means, let some place be found where the lads can enjoy themselves. Weren't we all boys and girls once, and have we forgotten our youthful days? "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

School opened last Monday morning under very favorable auspices, and with a large attendance. Quite a number of visitors were present at the opening exercises, several of whom responded to the invitation of Prof. Wilson and made brief remarks, all of which were received by the pupils with manifestations of approval. Rev. Stinchcomb conducted devotional services. The new teachers all began their work as if "to the manor born" and made a very favorable impression, on both pupils and fellow teachers. There is every indication that the school will be even better during the coming year than it has ever been in the past.

The business men of Paw Paw will observe Thursday, the 3d day of October, as a day of recreation, to which every one is invited. Sports of all kinds will be indulged in in the Kalamazoo streets.
